CITY TAXES 1885.

Final Notice!

Hann Notice:

It seems to be the impression with none that it is unnecessary for Taxpayers to come forward of their own accord and pay their taxes, but that it is the duty of the Collector to keep continuity running after them. Sow, this is entirely erroneous. All Gity Taxes for 1885 are considered de inquent since the first day of Juntary, 1880, and on all of these 10 percent will be added besides the cost of collection. Several parties, 100, contemplate moving away from the city when taxes for 1885 still remain united it they will save themselves both expense and annoyance by attending to it at once, In order to be as lenient as passible, and to sailt the convenience of these who cannot come during the day, I will keep my office epen for the

The question has been asked, "Is it a case of hysteria," I would say that, although not primarily so, yet hysteria developed to a certain degree, not as a complication but as a sequel. The above statements are correct, and I am ready to produce undeniable evidence as to their truth, both from personal observation and the best scientific authority.

Death From Her Parent's Inhumanity The Jackson county Herald says that The Jackson county Herald says that a few nights since a 7 or 8 year old girl of Isaac Davis, who lives back of Angerona, died very suddenly. A coroner's inquest was held and some twenty or twenty-five witnesses were examined, several of whom testified that Davis's wife (who is his second one, and step-mother to the dead girl), had made frequent threats to kill the child, which had often gone to the houses of neighbors in a starving condition, and that Davis himself had been very brutal to his offspring. There was a broken place in the child's skull. The jury found that the deceased came to her death from inhuman treatment at the hands of the parents. There is said to be hands of the parents. There is said to be considerable feeling at Angerona.
